

RUSSIANS CLAIM TACTICAL SUCCESS

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Petrograd, Sept. 15.—Two sudden flanking movements by the Russian troops have put the entire Austro-German right wing in a dangerous predicament, which threatens with disaster the great Teutonic invasion of Russia, according to latest reports received by the war office.

South of the Pripiet marshes large German forces are hurriedly retreating, pursued by the Russians, who have crossed the Goryn river and are pressing forward. Still farther south the Austro-German troops forced to withdraw to the Strype river are finding it difficult to hold their position.

In the fighting in the last three days more than 23,000 prisoners have been taken by the Russians. The Austro-German armies are believed to have lost twice that number in killed and wounded.

Gen. Ivanoff, commander of the southern Russian army, has executed a brilliant piece of strategy, according to the Petrograd military experts. Permitting the Austrians and German forces to advance to the Lusk-Dubuo line, he suddenly launched an offensive against the Teutons' left flank from the Pripiet marshes, at the same time making a similar attack on the enemy's right from the Sereh river position.

The Austro-German salient extending into Russian territory from northeastern Galicia immediately found itself in great difficulties. Retreat was found necessary. That retreat is now in progress. Only part of the Teutonic army has been able to extricate itself, however.

HINT FOR APPLE GROWERS.

Apple Markets Injured by the Shipment of Poor Fruit.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, D. C., Sept. 15.—Effective co-operative organizations afford the best means for profitable marketing of the country's increasing apple crop, according to a survey of marketing conditions in the industry just published as Bulletin No. 302, "Apple Market Investigations 1914-15," by the United States department of agriculture. In states where apples are boxed instead of barreled, growers' associations handle a large percentage of the output and in securing uniformity in the pack and advantageous distribution of the crop are much more successful than individuals.

Observers in the Chicago market showed that 25 per cent of the arrivals in carlot bulk, or the equivalent of 350 carloads, and 10 per cent of the barreled shipments, were of about 160 carloads, were of such poor quality that the price would not have paid the freight charges had these apples been shipped by themselves. By throwing out this poor fruit the farmers would not only have saved the cost of packing and shipping, but would have cleared the market for their good stock. Similar conditions were found elsewhere.

In this connection it is said that the grade and package laws now in operation in a number of states are proving effective in stabilizing the market. Uniformity in state legislation of this kind, the authors state, is, however, most desirable.

The effect of the war upon the industry has been found to be less disastrous than was apprehended. Because of the cheapness of the fruit, consumption was stimulated and the exports far exceeded expectations. The German ports being closed, large quantities were shipped direct to the Scandinavian markets for the first time and this should prove of considerable benefit to future years. Direct trade with South America has also increased greatly, and should continue to do so, especially in the growing trade in such products as physical in turn facilities for shipment. Careful selection, grading and packing and is, however, essential to the delivery of the fruit in good condition and only stock that may be classed as "fancy" or "extra fancy" should be exported to South American ports.

Maryland Primaries.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Baltimore, Md., Sept. 15.—Returns from yesterday's state-wide primary show Comptroller Ellerson C. Harrington was nominated as the Democratic candidate for governor over United States Senator Blair Lee, while O. E. Weller was nominated by the Republicans over William T. Warburton. Lee was the organization candidate. He carried Baltimore city, but the counties polled up a large majority against him. Weller's success was a landmark victory for the Republican organization.

Vesuvius in Eruption.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Naples, Sept. 15.—Inhabitants of villages around Mount Vesuvius are fleeing in terror today as the result of the eruption of that volcano. Great streams of lava are pouring down its side and terrific explosions frequently occurring buried dense clouds of smoke and red and yellow flames above its summit. The fleeing inhabitants are flocking to churches and shrines where prayers are being offered.

ARABIC EVIDENCE SENT TO BERLIN

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, Sept. 15.—All of the evidence dealing with the sinking of the Arabic compiled by the United States has been forwarded to the Berlin foreign office through state department sources, at the request of the German admiralty in the light of the report made by the submarine commander.

Count von Bernstorff is understood to believe that when this evidence, much of it the sworn statements of American citizens, is considered that part of the Arabic note justifying the action of the submarine will be withdrawn voluntarily, and a modified disclaimer, strong enough to satisfy President Wilson, will be substituted.

In the meantime, the ambassador will be afforded every facility by the state department to set his views before his home government and he will also be able to report on the unofficial exchanges to date in the hope of removing the extreme tension that again has been created.

Officials were frank in declaring today that the exclusive statement secured by the International News Service in Berlin that the foreign office endorsed the letter and spirit of the assurances given to the United States by Ambassador von Bernstorff, that hereafter there would be no wanton attacks on passenger-carrying vessels, had done much to create optimism among administration officials. It was the first real confidence from independent sources that von Bernstorff had not been "double-crossed" by the admiralty influence in the Berlin foreign office, and it confirmed entirely his claim that he has complete powers to settle all matters now in dispute.

Count von Bernstorff will return to the summer embassy to await the verdict of his home government on the Arabic evidence. It was pointed out today that apparently a serious diplomatic blunder had been made by Germany in sending the Arabic note direct, instead of first communicating its contents to the ambassador here. If he had had opportunity to pass upon it, it is certain that clearer language would have been used to indicate that the arbitration offer went only to the question of liability for indemnity and the amount to be fixed. Secretary Lansing recognized that this was meant and made it very plain that there would be no objection to such a course. But President Wilson held that the text could be interpreted as a desire to arbitrate, and he refused to permit formal acceptance until Germany re-submitted a commander was in error, thus disavowing the attack.

An unqualified disavowal by Germany would, it is pointed out, make her liable for an indemnity of the amount of which could be fixed by the government. Germany holds that Americans have not an indisputable right to travel on enemy's ships, and wants to submit this to arbitration, as a barrier against her having to pay an enormous indemnity in both the Arabic and Lusitania cases. Indemnity through arbitration, Secretary Lansing and Ambassador von Bernstorff both agree, is not an unusual proceeding, and the only hitch is the desire of the president for a disavowal of the attack. The ambassador is very hopeful that the Berlin government can meet this demand in such a manner that its interests will be protected and the president be satisfied.

The state department was waiting today for the German note in the Hesperian case. The declaration by Berlin that a mine and not a German torpedo sank the liner probably will be accepted, in view of the fact that neither Ambassador Page nor Consul Frost at Queenstown has obtained any evidence to the contrary. Secretary Lansing said, however, that he could not comment on the German note until all of the facts are before him.

Buley Goes to California.

Alfred Buley, who graduated in June from the Y. M. C. A. training school at Springfield, Mass., has accepted a position as physical instructor of the Y. M. C. A. at Modesto, California, and he and his wife left town on Monday evening for California and expect to arrive in Modesto on Sunday night. They will stop over, however, at Salt Lake City. Mr. Buley is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Buley of No. 16 Oak street. On June 19, shortly after he graduated from the training school, he was united in marriage to Miss Olga Thompson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Thompson of Lindley avenue. Mr. and Mrs. Buley have a host of friends who wish them success. Monday evening a large number of relatives and friends were at the West Shore station to bid them farewell.

KINGSTON NOBLES OF THE MYSTIC SHRINE, READY TO START ON THEIR ANNUAL OUTING THIS MORNING, WAITING FOR TROLLEY CARS AT THE CORNER OF FAIR AND MAIN STREETS.

SHRINERS HOLD ANNUAL OUTING

Being Used to Treading the Hot Sands. They Didn't Mind the Weather and Turned Out Strong.

The annual outing and clambake of the Kingston Shriners' Association was held today at Kohl's Park at Poughkeepsie and was a great success. The Shriners, wearing their red fezzes and a smile, gathered at the Eagle Hotel on Main street at 9 o'clock and after a concert by Muller's band, who wore the red fez as a part of their uniform, formed in line and made a short parade through the uptown streets boarding trolley cars at the corner of Fair and Main streets for Rondout, where they were met by another delegation of Shriners. The trip to Poughkeepsie was made on the yacht Elhu Bunker. That the Shriners enjoyed their outing goes without saying. Among those who met at the Eagle Hotel were A. C. Connolly, Alonzo Wilson, R. B. Warner, C. B. Everett, Dr. Henry James Cameron, W. N. Conner, Thomas H. Edmonston, Charles J. Michael, Joshua M. DuBois, H. B. Young, Herbert Thomas, Irving Nestell, Ward B. Everett, M. H. SHARPE MEMORIAL.

Mr. Hendricks Suggests That All Be Allowed to Contribute.

The proposition to erect a suitable public memorial shaft to the late General George H. Sharpe in this city, which is now about being carried out, seems eminently proper. No resident of this historic town was ever more justly entitled to such an honor. And it seems to me that the most appropriate site for this granite shaft in our city is on the Albany avenue side of the old Kingston Academy park, directly opposite the general's charming old home and grounds, where he lived so long, and entertained so many noted men of national and state renown, and gave his friends and neighbors a chance to meet them. Here it was early in August, 1861, that General Sharpe brought back his famous Company B of the old Twentieth Regiment, after its three months' service with the regiment at the front. Well do I recall seeing those soldier boys marching across the lawn toward the rear of the Sharpe residence to partake of some good things for the stomach's sake. Would it not be appropriate to raise the money for this monument by popular subscription? Every man in these river counties was the friend of General Sharpe.

It has been well said that we have few public monuments in Kingston. And yet we have had other prominent residents here who well deserved such lasting recognition. Such men as General Joseph S. Smith, Samuel D. Corbitt and others, who readily come to mind in the retrospect of the development of Kingston.

Owner Found For Automobile.

Lieutenant Long of the Weehawken police department and Edward O'Reilly of the same place were in town on Tuesday and identified the automobile abandoned in Ponckhockie as the one which was stolen from O'Reilly's garage in that place several days ago. They sent the machine back to Weehawken. No trace of the thieves has as yet been found.

HAITIEN REBELS DEFY AMERICANS

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Cape Haitien, Haiti, Sept. 15.—Rebel leaders have rejected the efforts of the diplomatic corps to secure a general disarmament in accordance with the demands of the American forces of occupation. The American authorities are now facing a difficult problem, as the rebels have been strengthening their positions outside the city.

Future developments are anxiously awaited by this city, as the rebels assert they will resist any attempt made to disarm them.

TEXAS RANGERS KILL FIVE MEXICANS

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Brownsville, Texas, Sept. 15.—Five Mexicans were killed on the border last night and this morning by Texas Rangers. Two of the Mexicans, who were dressed in the khaki uniforms of soldiers, were shot to death last night when they were discovered spying upon the movements of United States troops. The other three were killed near Los Indios, where a battle was fought earlier in the week.

A report of the killing of the five Mexicans was made to Col. R. L. Bullard, commander of the United States troops in this section.

Col. Bullard detailed 600 soldiers to dig trenches along the Rio Grande, opposite the Mexican trenches, north of this city.

Batteries of guns have also been moved closer to the border and trained upon the Mexican works across the line. Eight machine guns have been mounted upon railroad cars for quick transportation to any point upon the border where serious danger threatens.

Three Mexican troop trains arrived at Matamoras, a Mexican town held by the Carranzistas, shortly after day-break. The American military authorities demanded an explanation for their presence and the Mexican commander at Matamoras replied that they would be used to preserve order tomorrow, Mexican independence day.

Libel Suit Settled.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Albany, Sept. 15.—The $50,000 suit for libel instituted by Attorney General Woodbury against the New York Tribune last January, following the publication of an editorial attacking him for the withdrawal of William Travers Jerome from the Thaw case has been discontinued. The case, which was set down for trial at the next term of the supreme court in Chautauque county, was dropped after the Tribune had assured the attorney general that it retracted the publication of the article; that it was unjustified and disavowed any attempt to impugn his personal or official integrity. The publication or a retraction by the newspaper marked the close of the case.

Floyd Vost was arrested on Tuesday night by Policeman Kuehn on the charge of running his automobile without license. He will be arraigned later before the recorder.

R. Stapskie, who was arrested by Policeman O'Neill for violating the liquor ordinance by running past a trolley car on Broadway, was also fined $3. The fine was paid.

Harry Silis was arrested on Tuesday by Policeman Font on the charge of loitering on the streets. He pleaded not guilty and the case was set down for a hearing on Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

HOT WEATHER RIPENING CROPS

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, Sept. 15.—The unprecedented hot wave that is now blanketing the eastern section of the country is a blessing to the people at large, despite the fact that it keeps the residents of the cities sweltering. This is the view of Forecaster Bowie at the United States Weather Bureau, expressed today.

Following the season of heavy rains, the heat is doing splendid work, the forecaster said, in bringing to maturity the great grain crops in the middle west, the cotton crop in the south, and the hay crop in the east.

Dr. Bowie declared the present hot spell, which is not due to be broken in the middle Atlantic states for thirty-six to forty-eight hours yet, is unusual in respect to its duration, but not as to high temperature. Back in 1851, for instance, the records show a temperature in September of 94 degrees. The highest in the present wave so far has been 94 degrees for Washington, Canton, N. Y., with 80 degrees, was hottest in the east today. The heat belt, which extends from the St. Lawrence valley down to the gulf, is due, according to Dr. Bowie, to the southerly winds which have carried a "flow of warm air up from the south. When the winds change to northeast there will be some cool weather.

Interior New York and New England will get some relief tomorrow when cool breezes now over the plains states, Rocky mountain and upper lake regions move eastward.

BUSY CONTRACTORS.

Buckley & Schryver Lease Floyd Brothers' Woodworking Plant.

Buckley & Schryver, the contractors of this city, have leased the Floyd Brothers' woodworking plant on Foxhall avenue and will continue the business in the future. The firm is very busy and has a number of contracts on hand. They have a force of men busy making the alterations to the Van Wakenen store on Wall street, where a third story addition is being placed on the rear of the big store. This addition is 40 by 85 feet and 14 feet in height. The new roof is being placed in position today. They are also busy erecting a large two family frame house on Cedar street for Mr. Bonesteel and are erecting the distributing depot for the National Biscuit Company opposite the Standard Oil Company's plant.

INCENDIARY BOMBS HIGH SCHOOL NAME ON THE LAPLAND UP TO THE REGENTS

By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, Sept. 15.—Late guards watched Pier No. 61 on the North river today while the White Star liner Lapland was searched from stem to stern, following the discovery of two tubes of acid, which were evidently designed as incendiary bombs to set the ship on fire when she was out at sea.

Since the fire upon the Sant' Anna, shipping companies are taking more drastic precautions to guard against incendiary and explosive bombs than at any other time since the war broke out.

The Lapland, one of the largest liners now engaged in the trans-Atlantic trade, was scheduled to sail today with a big cargo of war supplies for the allies.

The acid containers, which were found on a ledge of hatch No. 2 by a private detective late yesterday now are in the possession of Owen Egan of the police bureau of combustibles, who is analyzing their contents.

Major Canfield a few days ago wrote to Dr. Finley of the state board of education calling attention to the fact that the new high school should be officially known as "Kingston High School," and setting forth his reasons. The mayor's letter was printed in The Freeman at the time. This morning the mayor received the following reply to his letter from Frank B. Gilbert, chief of the law division of the University of the State of New York, who writes as follows:

"Dr. Finley desires me to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 9th. He has carefully examined the same and has asked me to report upon the legal requirements for any suggested change in the name of a high school. I have advised that this matter, if acted upon at all, should be by formal resolution of the board of regents. When the matter is taken up for consideration, your letter will be given due attention."

HIGH JINKS IN JAIL.

"Lady" Prisoners Hold Revels With Male Friends and Officers.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Utica, N. Y., Sept. 15.—The hearing in the matter of charges against Harry J. Moss, sheriff of Oneida county, involving alleged revelry at Utica jail in which deputies and women prisoners are said to have participated, was begun in earnest today before George W. Ward, named by Governor Whitman to hear the evidence for and against the sheriff. The witnesses thus far sworn have been persons who were prisoners at the jail last spring when the revelry is said to have occurred and their testimony has been of a sensational nature. Parties that began at 10 o'clock in the evening and lasted until 4 a. m., in which deputies and women prisoners and a section of a brass band participated were described today.

On one of these occasions one of the female prisoners was dressed in masculine attire. Liquor is alleged to have flowed freely and other prisoners in the jail were unable to sleep because of the uproar. It was also asserted by witnesses that two of the women prisoners were allowed the freedom of the jail offices, that they received male admirers and went joy riding frequently.

These occurrences are all alleged to have taken place during Moss' assumed office, but before he moved into his quarters at the jail. However he is held to answer for the acts of his subordinates, though he personally had no part in the high jinks.

Students at New Paltz.

The following young women from Ulster county are among the new students registered at the New Paltz Normal School: Flora Auchmoody, Highland; Catherine Barrett, Helen P. Cullen, Helen M. Halloran, Mae E. Hein, Arpha J. Lewson, Lillian E. Metz, Ethel Salzmann, Gertrude C. Stents, Kingston; Ellen Butler, Otisville; Edith Butz, New Paltz; Agnes M. Clancy, Marlborough; Mary E. Keenan, Saugerties; Olive LeFerre, New Paltz; Florence Livingston, Clinton; Beatrix Male, New Paltz; Howard Morrison, New Paltz; Elmer J. Shaw, Katrine; Alice E. Sloan, Wallkill.

Charged With Theft of Ring.

Anderson Terry, colored, of Hudson was brought to the county jail this morning by Deputy Sheriff Michael McCullough to await a hearing before Judge Mooney at East Kingston on Monday on a charge of stealing a ring from Wolf Oppenheimer of this city. It seems that Mr. Oppenheimer makes a trip every week through the brickyard section selling jewelry. On Tuesday while at Goldrick's Landing he was approached by Anderson, who said he wanted to buy a ring. By this time there was a large and interested crowd of negroes around and some how or other the ring which was passed from hand to hand in the crowd failed to be returned to the seller, and Anderson is charged with stealing it.

No Concert This Evening.

Owing to the fact that the Colonial City Band went to Poughkeepsie today with the Shriners, the third of the series of free band concerts given under the auspices of the business and professional men uptown will not be held this evening but will take place on Thursday evening on the Kingston Academy grounds.

Struck by an Automobile.

Alfred Messinger, son of Jacob L. Messinger of West Union street, was struck by an automobile driven by Harry Netburn of lower Hasbrouck avenue, on Tuesday evening about 5 o'clock. He was painfully injured about the face and head and was taken to the office of Dr. M. O'Meara, where the injuries were dressed. The injuries consisted of bruises to the head and back and one ear was also cut. The boy was later taken to his home.

Norwegian Schooner Sunk.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Copenhagen, Sept. 15.—The Norwegian schooner Norie, bound from Christiansia to England with lumber, has been sunk in the North Sea off the coast of Norway, by a German submarine. Her crew of eight men landed today by a Swedish steamship.

DUMBA WILL SAIL VERY SOON

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, Sept. 15.—Ambassador and Mme. Dumba will sail from New York for Vienna within the next week, according to unofficial information reaching the state department. No arrangements have been made for a safe conduct and it was not believed today that any would be necessary. The ambassador is more than 60 years old and the limit under which enemy aliens are detained in the various warring countries was said here today to be 55.

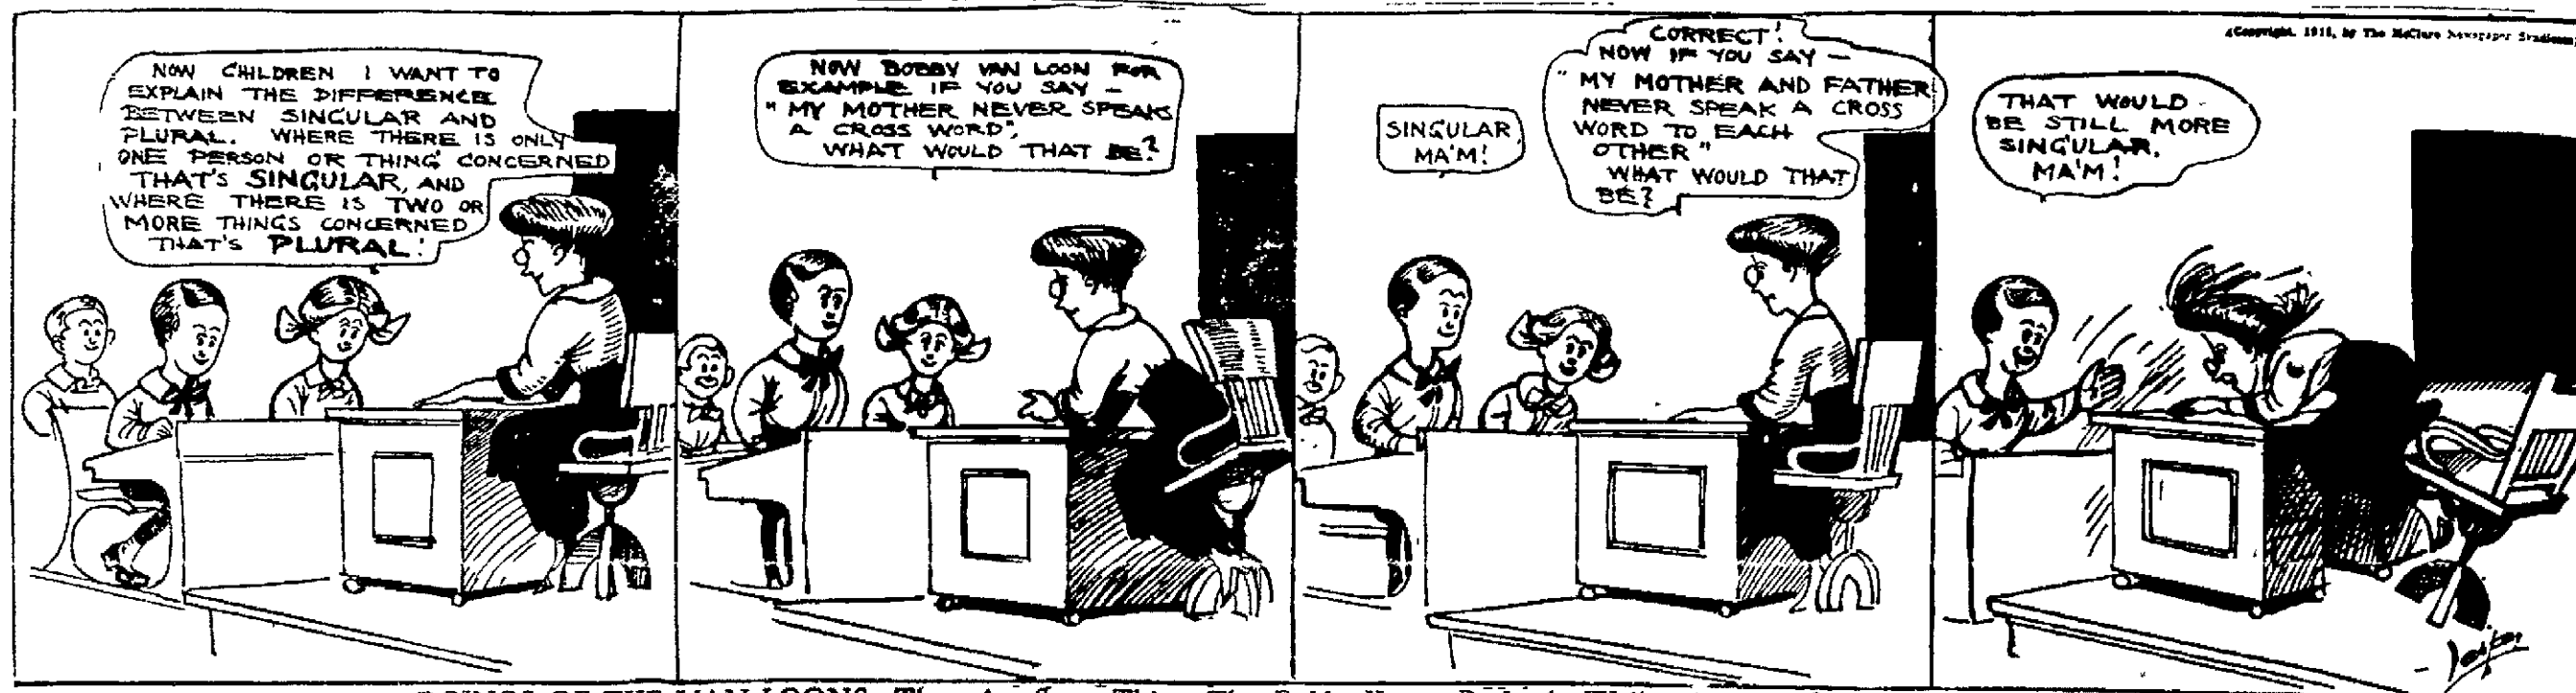

Although Secretary Lansing declines to comment on the request of Ambassador Dumba to be recalled on leave to report officials who know his mind were inclined to believe that he would raise no serious objection. The big object, they say, was to get Dumba out of this country and this object will be attained soon as Vienna is attacked.

The department was making earnest effort today to get some word from Ambassador Penfield to find out what action the Austrian government had taken. Communication with the Austrian capital is demoralized, and it was said in the chief clerk's office that sometimes it takes a week to get a short dispatch through.

THOSE PHOTOGRAPHERS.

If They Were Honey Why Don't They Deliver the Goods?

Peripatetic photographers made a tour of the city about a month ago and by various blandishments induced people to have photographs of their residences taken, returning in a few days and trying to sell the pictures. But the easiest mark they found was the wife of an uptown physician, who ordered a dozen copies of the picture of her residence and paid a dollar in advance without even seeing a proof of the work. She received a receipt, purporting to be from the Century View Co., but giving no address, and a promise that the pictures would be sent to her by mail on the following Tuesday. That was nearly four weeks ago, and the lady is beginning to wonder. If the Century View Co. can very readily find out the address of its disreputable customer, from The Freeman. Are there any more disappointed customers?

Message No. 6

A young doctor, making a start in a small town, decided that to be prosperous he must look prosperous. He bought a new buggy and two good horses. Although he had only a few patients he always kept on the move attending to his patients' smallest needs. People began to notice this young doctor driving about town and they called him because he looked busy and prosperous. He got his start—a start that led to a comfortable practice.

A town, like this doctor, must look prosperous, to be prosperous. Clean streets, attractive store windows, well-painted buildings and dwellings give the prosperous air. Well-painted buildings are greatest of these.

MESSAGE FROM A "LIVE WIRE"

Frank Jewel Raymond's Talk on "Making Good in Business" One of the Best Ever Given in Kingston.

There can be no smallest doubt that the Chamber of Commerce "made good" in a marked degree when they brought Frank Jewel Raymond, industrial manager of the National Dry Goods Association to lecture on "Making Good in Business" at the high school auditorium. In spite of the heat, there was a large and very appreciative audience present and they were privileged to hear a talk by a man who had working knowledge of what he said; who emphasized his talk with witty or biting epigrams and who never spoke a word without saying something.

Secretary Canfield of the Chamber of Commerce stated that in order to get the most real efficiency results from Mr. Raymond's talk, the Chamber of Commerce had decided to offer three prizes of $5 in gold each, for the best essay on the address and its subject, which would be written by first, an employed business woman; second, an employed business man; third a high school student. The judges will be Mayor Palmer Canfield, Jr., Edward Coker, and Superintendent Michael.

Before introducing the speaker, President Kearney of the Chamber of Commerce told of the formation of the plan by the Social Committee of the Chamber of Commerce to make it possible for all the business people of the city to hear Mr. Raymond, whom the organization found to be indeed a "live wire," when he was recently in Kingston. Through subscriptions from business men and the sale of tickets this had been accomplished. The Chamber of Commerce was further indebted to the board of education for the use of the splendid auditorium, for the very nominal sum required to pay for the lighting, and janitor service, and Mr. Kearney took it for granted that they would not charge for heating it.

On the suggestion that a little music to open the evening would add pleasure to all a few of the younger members of the Kingston Symphony Society, though assembled at a late hour, generously gave their services, playing two selections, which called forth applause. Mr. Kearney then introduced the speaker whom he knew it would be a rare privilege for these present to hear.

Mr. Raymond started right in by telling his audience that he intended to make them see what he believed, that every person before him could, in a marked degree, become a success. First he would ask for a personal inventory from each one present, of their abilities, and would hold up a mental mirror that they might have a look at themselves. Coming to match, he showed the small space it could light within his hands. A 16-candle power light would reach a wider circle, and an arc light a still wider one. The horizon was the dark rim about the light of the sun, for even that luminary could not lighten all of the world at once. No one could know all of anything, but each one could decide whether to be a match, a sixteen-candle power light, or an arc light, or the sun.

The speaker said he would emphatically use one word, YOU, and by that he meant each YOU before him, not "the other fellow." Intelligent self interest will pay good interest. One must use what one has to get what one wants.

"Education," said Mr. Raymond, "is not what you know, but what you can do with what you know." We all make mistakes. The speaker recently visited one of the largest business concerns in the country where pencils were made; pencils with a rubber on the end, which was profitable in a business way. So thousands of dollars were made daily out of the mistakes of people; for if no mistakes were made with the sharpened end of the pencil, the other end would not have to be used) and we need watching regarding these mistakes and weaknesses. The best way to cure weakness is to develop strength, which would mean success, which was another name for common sense. And it was not a bequest but a conquest of each self, or else an inquest over the dead ones. In the business world it would make no difference whether ones ancestors came over in the Mayflower or the Cauliflower, but it would make a difference what the person himself was.

Every person possesses six live wires with which to catch the current of success: the eye to see with; the ear to hear with; the nose to detect odors; the taste; the touch; and finally the intuition. These wires should all be used in observation; seeing, what one looks at, etc.; in concentration, the knowing what one is doing; memory, that keeps what one has gained through experience; judgment, a clever imitation of the half-hearted morning dusting of stock to the gossip of the night before, pointed the lesson of needed concentration. Memory of what one had concentrated upon was necessary in salesmanship, and both business men and professional men and women are salesmen and women, with this difference: business folk often have heads like buckets, into which one can pour information and sometimes it soaks in, while professional people usually have heads like gardens, where seeds are planted, germinate and grow into ideas and actions.

Judgment was given three classifications: poor judgment, especially shown in misrepresentation of goods; or facts; prejudiced judgment, as an unreasonable dislike to certain fellow workers or customers; the good judgment, which mixed with the milk of human kindness, would appreciate the other man's viewpoint and so give him sympathetic service.

The "My" and the "Our" type of people were cleverly depicted. Belief in one's fellow men was shown to be a prime necessity for success in life.

Said Mr. Raymond, "Business is a battle of brains and we need the fight, not the fright habit." The story of the bear and the dog pointedly illustrated this idea. The being understood by those about one, was a valuable asset in life. But one must for him or herself decide whether to be a dog of faith, winning out, or a cat of cowardice, losing out.

Kindness was a necessary quality of any successful life, and no one has a right to call another man a failure. A so-called "failure" was cited, and upon investigation it was found that the man who had given up a good job for an inferior one, had done so to be near an only sister, ill with tuberculosis, as long as she should live. His supposed failure was really the best kind of success.

There are four sides of life that are essential to "making good in business": Health, honor, harmony, money. The speaker showed that one could have health, honor and harmony without money, while it could be of value as rounding out each of the other three sides of life. Health is free to all, and a prime necessity. There are those who are robust and strong; there are those who are well but not strong; and there are those who are feeble and weak. Those who are feeble and weak may become well, if not strong, while those who are well but not strong may become robust. How? By nourishment; that is by thinking, by breathing, eating, drinking. Right thinking is important. The man or woman whose thinking is pessimistic is pouring into his system a poisonous acid that destroys health. "How" a person eats was another important matter. The speaker had convinced a man that it was not his stomach that was causing him trouble, but a lack of backbone. With sufficient backbone to forego another "snooze" in the morning he could have time to eat his breakfast good and hearty instead of very hurriedly and with great hurry. If we would all hustle less (meaning hurry) if we planned more. The absolute necessity of drinking two quarts of water a day was shown, unless one wished to become a human garbage and ash can, inefficient and repulsive.

Again the importance of cleanliness was impressed; a clean shave, absence of tobacco chewing, clean skin instead of powdered and rouged complexion, for the business person, as making them more pleasing and genuine in the eyes of their customers and therefore better salesmen and women.

The speaker considered an inability to properly relax as one of woman's most serious handicaps in home or business, and what a woman would be in the one she would be in the other place. Often the endless tasks of the day left the woman at home little or no time for relaxation. Mr. Raymond asked how many men thought of relaxing at home of the offering of relaxation, a roller ride, a picture show, a call on friends, to the women of the home. Yet the home atmosphere, "harmony," made all work better, made life more worth living.

To get up at the right time in the morning; to look up, to think up, to stand up, to front up, to measure up would mean success.

Mr. Raymond closed his forceful address by telling how he was some years ago, invited to an insurance dinner, where a speech was sprung upon him. Shivering and perspiring he arose and feebly made the statement, an appropriation of "Ambition," that "a life without ambition was like a ship without rudder." Sinking into his chair he determined to become able to talk. Arising fifteen minutes earlier than usual the next morning, he began talking to the bed post. He continued this habit for some time, then changed his audience to the mirror. Having talked the mirror out of countenance he next addressed a stump in the park, with great fervor and enthusiasm. Then he was ready to talk to men and women all over the country, having arrived at the point where he talked for the monetary return of $2 a minute, and the still higher return of helpfulness to his fellow men. He told the story in order to prove that no one ever knew what he or she could do until "up against it." Tackling the job and continued practice would always win out.

Mr. Raymond is an exceedingly rapid speaker, giving more than full "value" for every moment while on the platform. He has well been called the dynamo that can give electric power to all who hear him speak. While in no sense "preachy" it is certain that if many more of our clergy would talk with the conviction about matters of human and spiritual interest that Mr. Raymond displays, there would be far fewer magazine articles headed "Why men do not go to church." Certainly every man and woman who heard Mr. Raymond last evening will hear him one week from Thursday evening, at the same place, and will bring their friends with them.

Resigned to It.

Taking oneself too seriously is supposed to be an American trait. At any rate, it is found in America. The late Edward Everett Hale in "We the People" cites a remark of Thomas Carlyle apropos of this habit.

Margaret Fuller had perhaps taken herself the least bit too seriously. She had said that she had determined "to accept the universe."

"She had better," said Carlyle.

RESERVISTS ABOARD LINER, AFIRE IN MID OCEAN AND CAPTAIN OF THE VESSEL.

Although the Fabre liner, Sant Anna, with more than 2,000 persons aboard, most Italian reservists bound from the U. No explanation for the fire is given and it is rumored that it was the result of an incendiary bomb. The Sant Anna is now proceeding toward the Azores under convoy of the Italian liner, Ancona.

The picture shows some of the reservists aboard the vessel waving good by from the decks as she sailed from New York last Wednesday. The insert shows Captain Francis Pacy, commander of the Sant Anna.

Do you own a home, or a property to rent or to sell which has been closed for many months past and which carries the stigma (known to many) "poorly heated?" If so, the first thing to do this Fall is to give the building a home-making, tenant-attracting value, by installing an outfit of folks, or to any renter or buyer, that the building is going to be warm for all winters to come—free of ashes and coal dust, with full money's worth from every coal bill. To a building formerly heated by old-fashioned devices an IDEAL-AMERICAN outfit adds something never there before, namely—an atmosphere that satisfies. You have an even, balmy, cleanly, generous volume of warmth in every room—always tempered to suit the varying needs of Spring, Fall and Winter. Our special SYLPHON Heat Regulators keep IDEAL Boilers automatically regulated; no over-heating and fuel waste, no under-heating and chilly rooms. You can have comfortable nights, pleasant mornings, cozy evenings—and perpetual freedom from fuel-extravagance or regulating the dampers.

A No. 4-15-W IDEAL Boiler and 270 sq. ft. of 38-in. AMERICAN Radiators, costing the owner $135, were used to heat this cottage. At this price the goods can be bought of any reputable, competent fitter. This did not include cost of labor, pipe, valves, freight, etc., which vary according to climatic and other conditions.

IDEAL Boilers are built with grates, fire pots and heating surfaces which extract the most heat from all fuels—wood, oil, gas, coke, lignite, hard or soft coal—even run-of-mine, pea-coal, screenings, or slack. AMERICAN Radiators are made in every shape necessary for putting under windows, along walls, in corners, pantries, etc., and in special forms for ventilation. All are subjected in our special heating laboratories to highest tests for strength, durability and utmost heating results per pound of fuel burned.

You can make no better building investment, for in IDEAL-AMERICAN heating everything is water-backed "iron-to-iron," no parts to wear out, rust out, or call for packing—no annual over-hauling or repairs bills. These economies, with fuel savings, pay dividends far better than money-in-bank at 6%. Whether in country or city, whether it is an old or new house, store, school, church, etc., write to-day for "Ideal Heating," free and worth reading—no obligations to buy.

IDEAL Boilers will supply ample heat on one charging of coal for 8 to 24 hours, depending on severity of weather. Every ounce of fuel is made to yield utmost results.

An unfailing, stationary Vacuum Cleaner—in sizes now at $150 up!
You should know about our ARCO WAND Vacuum Cleaner, for dustless, complete cleaning of rooms, furnishings, etc. Sits in basement and cleans through iron suction pipe running to each floor. Easily put in OLD buildings. Fully GUARANTEED. Lasts as long as the building—like radiator heating. Send for catalog.

Emotional Expression.
"In all races of men," says Darwin, "the expression of good spirits seems to be the same, and it is easily recognized." And he adds that "from the natives of New Zealand to the highly civilized Caucasian much the same forms of emotional expressions are to be observed."

TIME TO BUY

September is undoubtedly the time to buy automobiles for owners are selling this year's cars now at greatly reduced prices, for after using them all summer, they are now ready to part with them at a sacrifice so as to buy new ones after the winter auto shows.

You can get a good car, a modern car, at a great saving of money if you will either follow the news of automobiles that appear daily in The Freeman Want Ad columns, or run a Want Ad of your own, telling the owners that you are in the market to buy.

Take advantage of the September auto buying time by reading and using The Freeman Wants Ads.

FOUR VACANCIES STILL UNFILLED

Democrats May Yet Adopt Charlie DuBois's Plan For Obtaining Candidates—Leonard's Plan For Settling Contests.

Tuesday was the last day in which new designations could be filed with the board of election commissioners at the court house to fill the vacancies caused by the declination of the four candidates who had refused to run, and the Democratic "leaders" after an all day hunt were unable to find any "goats" willing to accept the honor.

The friends of Charles DuBois of Prince street are of the opinion that the "leaders" made a mistake when they did not adopt the plan suggested by Mr. DuBois for if they had done so they would easily have secured a candidate for alderman-at-large to fill the vacancy caused by the declination of the honor by Joseph A. Sheppard. Mr. DuBois has been unable to attend the meetings of the "leaders" as he is forced to work nights. He is the bustling news butcher at the West Shore station and his friends claim that Charlie carries the Third ward around in his vest pocket, and if he had been named for the job he would at least have made a showing on Primary Day. However, it was not Charlie's plan to offer himself as a sacrifice, but his suggestion, according to his friends, was to have those interested in the welfare of the party contribute enough money to make it interesting and then to form a sort of baseball pool, the one winning the pool to accept the nomination and also to receive a cash consideration for his patriotism. In this way it should have been easy to have gotten patriots willing to take a sporting chance, especially if the one who won was awarded a sufficient cash prize to make up for injured feelings at being defeated at the polls this fall.

Can't Explain It.

The fact that it has been impossible to secure enough candidates to fill out a city ticket has been a great disappointment to the "leaders" and as one leading Democrat said this morning "Ain't it—mentioning a warmer climate 'why we have not been able to get any one willing to run on the ticket this fall. I for one can't explain it."

Leonard's Elimination Scheme.

He continued, "It's funny though. Here we are unable to get any one to run for supervisor in three of the uptown wards while down town in the Seventh ward Supervisor Quigley has a fight on his hands with Anthony Bowers and Joseph Schuler putting up a fight for the nomination."

"Speaking of a fight" broke in another Democrat who had been a close listener "Have you heard of Supervisor Bronk Leonard's scheme for eliminating the candidates in the Seventh?"

"No. What is it?" Asked the other.

"Well according to Bronk's friends he has suggested that they hire Washington Hall and give out invitations to their friends in the ward and then the three candidates fight it out with four ounce gloves."

"Yes and it would be just like Bronk to want to match the winner against Jess Willard for the championship" said the other with a laugh.

"But it would not be such a bad idea at that" broke in the other.

"What match the winner against Willard?"

"Now. Bronk's idea."

Only One Plan Left.

The Democratic "leaders" now have only one plan left by which they can put a complete ticket in the field at the fall election, and that is to have a gathering of those interested in the party and on Primary Day have a few friends in each ward write in the name of the one they wish to run for the vacant office.

The only objection to this plan is the fact that those who thus receive the nomination on Primary Day are liable to kick over the traces and refuse to make the run.

As one Democrat has said he believes in General Sherman's definition of war and that the same could be equally applied to the tribulations of the Democratic machine this year.

ULSTER PARK.

Ulster Park Sept. 15.—Raymond Cole spent a week with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Cole.

William Parker and brother Mynard spent Sunday with Mrs. E. Wheeler.

Mrs. E. Auchmoody of Hurley spent Sunday with her mother, Mrs. J. Barley.

Dr. Knipp and wife of Brooklyn spent the week end with Mrs. Jennie Knipp.

Mrs. Edith Koppermann has hired rooms over S. T. Van Aken's store.

Relatives from Walden are stopping with Mrs. I. D. Churchwell.

A number of the summer boarders have left the Wesler boarding house for the city.

"A Full House" This Evening.

The opera house will have for its attraction tonight "A Full House," which has been anticipated with much interest, for it is now acknowledged the world over as one of the funniest farces ever seen on the English-speaking stage. It has been running for nearly a year at the Lozscarre Theatre, New York, and is the reigning success in the west.

At the Casino Tonight.

Owing to the rush to see "The Isle of Recreation" at the Broadway Casino there will be three performances this evening, at 7, 8:30 and 10 o'clock.

HIGHLAND.

Highland, Sept. 15.—Hallock Sutton of Clintondale was in town on Tuesday on business.

Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Reynolds entertained guests from Poughkeepsie recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Abram Bloomer have their house well filled with boarders yet and more to arrive this week. Everyone there has a jolly time. They have a spacious porch and beautiful lawn, so shady and an attractive little lake where they may have a row. Boat, music, cards, dancing and motor trips, so altogether the city folk just enjoy being to the Bloomer house for the host and hostess spare no pains to have not one dull moment for their guests.

Mrs. Orsen Sheeley was a business visitor in Poughkeepsie this week.

Miss Elizabeth Raymond was the hostess Saturday afternoon to the Society of U. D. people. All report a fine time.

Queen Esther Circle held its regular meeting on Monday evening at the home of Mrs. L. Osterhout. All spent a pleasant and instructive hour. Also enjoyed refreshments at close of their business session. They have been resting for a short time.

There will be a junior choir for Tabernacle service as well as the senior one. Everyone must learn to sing.

Several from the surrounding country attended the service Sunday evening in the Tabernacle here. Think it will draw outsiders to quite an extent.

The Highland band gave a fine concert last Friday evening on the M. E. Church grounds and there were many people in town who enjoyed every selection rendered and our village folk certainly appreciated the music greatly. They have made good progress and feel delighted over their improvement.

Several ladies from here attended the meeting of the W. C. T. U. held at Marlborough last week and report a very interesting session.

Rev. M. V. Williams, the evangelist, P. J. Davis, musical director and soloist, and Miss S. J. Wing, also solo singer, have commenced work.

Last Saturday evening in the Tabernacle they had quite a goodly number out and Sunday evening quite a crowd, several from out of town. These meetings, we understand, are to be held for one month. Preaching service in both churches Sunday evening will be omitted during campaign.

Last Friday afternoon was one of great warmth, still a good many of the Methodist Auxiliary Club women went to the home of Mrs. Albert Martin where she with Mrs. Constance, Mrs. Hudson and Mrs. Fred Decker and Mrs. George Davis acted the part of hostesses. Nearly all of the ladies had some kind of fancy work with which they busied themselves and they told the reporter it was difficult to find out which woman worked the most, talked the fastest, or ate the greatest amount of refreshments for some of them said they could eat no supper at home for there they had sandwiches, potato salad, pickles, jelly, baked beans, cake, coffee and lemonade. We know all must have enjoyed those good things and the husbands of these club people had to wait a little late for their meal, but so much for women's clubs where it is not permissible for we, poor men, to enter in.

Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Carpenter and Mrs. Howard Wilcox and son, with Allie Williams were out Sunday for a motor trip through the country.

Mr. and Mrs. Coyer of Vineyard avenue entertained guests from the city the week end.

Miss Pearl Scott and Emily Miller have returned to their homes after spending a long time working at Lake Mohonk. They were delighted with the place and people. We hear they may return there for the Indian conference.

Mrs. R. H. Decker will attend the session of grand chapter, O. E. S., in New York city the first part of October.

Mrs. Uriah Decker and daughter, Mrs. Lloyd Plass, were in Poughkeepsie last Wednesday and attended the funeral of Mrs. E. Coutant.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Miller were in Kingston Sunday last to attend the funeral of F. Eighmer, an uncle of Mrs. Miller. They returned Monday evening. Miss Bessie Keller of Kingston accompanied them and will remain for a visit of a few weeks.

Thursday evening moving picture place will close for revival services, so everyone may embrace the opportunity of hearing Rev. Williams.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Upright and son, Harold, were guests of friends in New York city last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. William Peeter, Sr., returned Monday from a delightful visit with relatives and friends at Little Falls, Herkimer county. They enjoyed the vacation greatly.

A slight misunderstanding in regard to business at Atkins Brothers' store caused some clerks to walk out but after the matter was settled where they agreed to disagree they decided they had better stick to business for under present conditions it is hard to get something to do.

Preaching in churches here for month to come in morning; evening services in Tabernacle.

Mr. and Mrs. P. Schantz were in Poughkeepsie Tuesday.

J. O. A. M. will meet next week on Tuesday evening. Members are requested to be present.

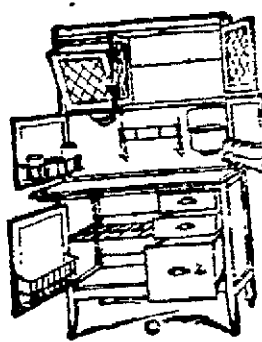

Miss Eva Atkins is at home now, not working in Poughkeepsie.

The picture shows the United States end of one of the bridges over the Rio Grande, near Brownsville, Tex., with Mexican families and their household goods, about to return to the Mexican side. Since the recent border disturbances, feeling toward the Mexicans on this side of the river has been none too kindly and many of the Mexicans have packed up and departed across the river.

HOW SHE WAS WON

A Story of a Statesman and a Politician.

By F. A. MITCHELL

Two men about the same age—between thirty and thirty-five—met on the steps of the capitol at Washington. They were marvelously alike. Both stopped, and each fixed his eyes on the other in astonishment.

"If I were not sure, sir," said one, "that I have no twin brother I would look upon you as such."

"You are certainly like me," said the other, "though immeasurably better looking. I would be glad if I possessed that eagle eye, that noble brow—"

"Nonsense!" exclaimed the other. "Who are you?"

"I am Winfield Gawtry, the new member of the house of representatives from the 4th congressional district of—"

"And I am Newland Ferguson, recently elected to the house from the 3d district of—"

"Happy to meet you, Mr. Ferguson. I trust we shall be friends. I have often heard of you and the confidence your constituents repose in you. Your handling of the— canal case has made you known all over—"

"And it is evident from your palaver that you are a smooth tongued politician."

"Right you are, while you are a man of ponderous brain. We are each started on the political ladder. I'll wager you, Mr. Ferguson, that I reach the top round first."

"And I'll wager you that you tumble over the top round as soon as you have reached it and fall to the ground."

"Where I will find just as many fools to start me climbing again."

"Doubtless."

"Will you kindly give me your address, Mr. Ferguson? I am not such a fool as you think me. I recognize in you one upon whom we men of the people must draw on for ideas. I desire to call upon you, to make you my friend."

The address was given, and the two men became intimate. It is not true that in friendship like clings to like. Mr. Ferguson envied the scatterbrained Gawtry for his ability to make himself attractive to the masses, and Mr. Gawtry proposed to get out of Ferguson all there was in him. One evening when they were together Mr. Ferguson heaved a deep sigh.

"That's a love sigh," said Gawtry. "How did you guess that?"

"Love is a folly that even a brainy man may indulge in. I have observed no other nonsense about you; therefore I conclude that your sigh indicates love."

"You are right. Mine is a case of unrequited love."

"You mean that you are too intellectual, too much inclined to be always looking for the meat at the bottom of questions, too matter of fact for the lady?"

"Perhaps so."

"If I had your intrinsic worth, with my showiness I could win any woman in the world."

"Very likely."

"I wonder," continued Gawtry after a pause, "if such a combination could not be effected between you and me?"

"What do you mean?"

"You and I are like in appearance as two peas in a pod. The lady you court knows your worth. How would it do for me to personate you and bring to bear upon her my blandishments in your behalf?"

Ferguson looked at his friend inquiringly, thoughtfully.

"Do you suppose you could fool her?" he asked.

"I could try."

"She would detect the deception in the difference in clothes."

"I could wear your clothes."

"After a number of conferences it was decided to make the attempt. As soon as Gawtry had supplied deficiencies he was to coach Ferguson in how to win with a woman, and it was hoped that the latter would be able to maintain the advantage secured. Ferguson was wearing at the time a blue suit with striped waistcoat and neckwear of a striped pattern. Gawtry donned this apparel and one evening called upon Miss Agnes Buell, the lady who was to be won by this combination of worth and flummery. She came into the room with indifference in her bearing and put out her hand carelessly to her caller. To her surprise he raised it to his lips and kissed it. The lady looked up at him, surprised.

It seemed to her that her lover was slightly changed in appearance from her last meeting with him. But there were the striped waistcoat, the figured scarf.

"You see a difference in me?" said Gawtry, smiling. "I expected it. I have had my hair cut since I saw you last."

"I thought there had been some change, but I could not tell what it was."

"There is also a change in you."

"A change in me?"

"Yes. I have never seen you so lovely."

"Dear me! What's come over you?"

"I'll tell you. A political deal of great importance has been absorbing my attention, distracting it from everything else. It is achieved. Congratulations!"

"Who is that man?" asked a lady sitting near Miss Buell of another.

"That's Gawtry, the great demagogue. He has an immense following among people who mistake his oratorical powers for statesmanship."

A light broke in upon Miss Buell's brain—not one light, but two. In the first place she had mistaken this man for her lover. In the second she saw the immeasurable superiority of the one over the other. There was a light that did not pierce her brain. It did not occur to her that one of these men had played the part of the other.

She sent a message to Ferguson asking him to call the same evening. He obeyed the summons with alacrity and a new hope. As soon as they met Miss Buell said:

"There is a member of the house whom, as soon as I saw him, I mistook for you. The likeness is marvelous. I heard you speak the other day, and I heard this man Gawtry speak today. I noticed that you gradually gained a hearing by bringing forth ideas, while he, starting with a hearing on account of a delightful flow of language, lost it because ideas were wanting. I'm afraid we girls are very much like the people and their representatives. We are caught by blandishments. Fortunately, I have been disentrained by hearing you and this man Gawtry speak."

Mr. Gawtry drew her to him and kissed her again. She was passive, and he kissed her again.

"I hope you won't get involved in any more political deals, for then you're horrid. As you are you're very nice."

Of course he kissed her for that, and leading her to a sofa, drew her down beside him and poured forth a flood of mingled adoration and flattery, coming from a man supposed to be usually wrapped in questions of import to his constituents, was delightful. And to think that she was the recipient of all this; that she had won a man at once so deep and so full of sentiment! After an evening which Miss Buell thought altogether too short this combination of sense and absurdity departed, leaving her in a seventh heaven.

Gawtry told Ferguson about the interview except the kisses, for he was an adroit politician and never made blunders in his handling of others. Ferguson was much interested in the report. After listening to the methods his double had used he said that he thought he could mend his ways and accomplish something of the same results. The next evening he made the experiment and failed signally. When Miss Buell entered the room where he was awaiting her she advanced joyfully, but was at once repelled by the stern look on his face.

"Oh, my goodness gracious!" she exclaimed. "You have relapsed to your old self."

"Do tell me," he said earnestly, "how I am different from what I was when I saw you last?"

"Why, you haven't kissed me yet!"

"Kissed you?"

The plan was neatly spoiled by this revelation. That "rascally political charlatan," as Ferguson called Gawtry in his thinking of him, had been kissing the lady. But Ferguson was a man of great self control, and instead of betraying himself he bent forward and gave his ladylove a reverential kiss. This helped him out for awhile, but he soon continued to lose ground again, and in half an hour Miss Buell was sitting by him pouting. He tried to say some "soft" things to her, but they were spoken from the lips rather than from the heart and produced a contrary effect from the one intended. The consequence was that the parting was not what it should have been.

Ferguson returned to his room crestfallen. He was to have the floor of the house the next morning on a very important bill and spent several hours before going to bed in preparation for his coming effort. He had endeavored to excuse himself for his seeming coldness to Miss Buell by telling her that his mind was on his speech, and the next morning she resolved to go to the capitol to hear it.

When Ferguson took the floor there was the usual hum of conversation and business, and it continued till the speaker was half through his argument. But gradually certain influential members were attracted by what he was saying, and before he had finished the whole house was listening. Miss Buell was much struck with this power in her lover and very proud to have won such a man, but she sighed at remembering that only once had he thrown off the statesman for the lover.

Not long after this she was in the gallery of the house again when she saw, as she thought, her Ferguson arise to speak. He was not in his usual apparel, and there was something about him not like himself. When he began to speak there came forth a charming flow of words. The members with one accord dropped what they were doing and listened to him. Miss Buell was surprised that whereas at his previous effort he had been obliged to wait for the attention of his audience he now jumped right into it.

But as the speaker continued one by one the thinking members ceased to listen. There was the same flow of language, but no flow of ideas. When the oration was ended the hum of business there had been before was recommenced.

"Who is that man?" asked a lady sitting near Miss Buell of another.

"That's Gawtry, the great demagogue. He has an immense following among people who mistake his oratorical powers for statesmanship."

A light broke in upon Miss Buell's brain—not one light, but two. In the first place she had mistaken this man for her lover. He was to have the floor of the house the next morning on a very important bill and spent several hours before going to bed in preparation for his coming effort. He had endeavored to excuse himself for his seeming coldness to Miss Buell by telling her that his mind was on his speech, and the next morning she resolved to go to the capitol to hear it.

When Ferguson took the floor there was the usual hum of conversation and business, and it continued till the speaker was half through his argument. But gradually certain influential members were attracted by what he was saying, and before he had finished the whole house was listening. Miss Buell was much struck with this power in her lover and very proud to have won such a man, but she sighed at remembering that only once had he thrown off the statesman for the lover.

Not long after this she was in the gallery of the house again when she saw, as she thought, her Ferguson arise to speak. He was not in his usual apparel, and there was something about him not like himself. When he began to speak there came forth a charming flow of words. The members with one accord dropped what they were doing and listened to him. Miss Buell was surprised that whereas at his previous effort he had been obliged to wait for the attention of his audience he now jumped right into it.

But as the speaker continued one by one the thinking members ceased to listen. There was the same flow of language, but no flow of ideas. When the oration was ended the hum of business there had been before was recommenced.

"Who is that man?" asked a lady sitting near Miss Buell of another.

"That's Gawtry, the great demagogue. He has an immense following among people who mistake his oratorical powers for statesmanship."

A light broke in upon Miss Buell's brain—not one light, but two. In the first place she had mistaken this man for her lover. In the second she saw the immeasurable superiority of the one over the other. There was a light that did not pierce her brain. It did not occur to her that one of these men had played the part of the other.

She sent a message to Ferguson asking him to call the same evening. He obeyed the summons with alacrity and a new hope. As soon as they met Miss Buell said:

"There is a member of the house whom, as soon as I saw him, I mistook for you. The likeness is marvelous. I heard you speak the other day, and I heard this man Gawtry speak today. I noticed that you gradually gained a hearing by bringing forth ideas, while he, starting with a hearing on account of a delightful flow of language, lost it because ideas were wanting. I'm afraid we girls are very much like the people and their representatives. We are caught by blandishments. Fortunately, I have been disentrained by hearing you and this man Gawtry speak."

Mr. Gawtry drew her to him and kissed her again. She was passive, and he kissed her again.

"I hope you won't get involved in any more political deals, for then you're horrid. As you are you're very nice."

Of course he kissed her for that, and leading her to a sofa, drew her down beside him and poured forth a flood of mingled adoration and flattery, coming from a man supposed to be usually wrapped in questions of import to his constituents, was delightful. And to think that she was the recipient of all this; that she had won a man at once so deep and so full of sentiment! After an evening which Miss Buell thought altogether too short this combination of sense and absurdity departed, leaving her in a seventh heaven.

Gawtry told Ferguson about the interview except the kisses, for he was an adroit politician and never made blunders in his handling of others. Ferguson was much interested in the report. After listening to the methods his double had used he said that he thought he could mend his ways and accomplish something of the same results. The next evening he made the experiment and failed signally. When Miss Buell entered the room where he was awaiting her she advanced joyfully, but was at once repelled by the stern look on his face.

"Oh, my goodness gracious!" she exclaimed. "You have relapsed to your old self."

"Do tell me," he said earnestly, "how I am different from what I was when I saw you last?"

"Why, you haven't kissed me yet!"

"Kissed you?"

The plan was neatly spoiled by this revelation. That "rascally political charlatan," as Ferguson called Gawtry in his thinking of him, had been kissing the lady. But Ferguson was a man of great self control, and instead of betraying himself he bent forward and gave his ladylove a reverential kiss. This helped him out for awhile, but he soon continued to lose ground again, and in half an hour Miss Buell was sitting by him pouting. He tried to say some "soft" things to her, but they were spoken from the lips rather than from the heart and produced a contrary effect from the one intended. The consequence was that the parting was not what it should have been.

Ferguson returned to his room crestfallen. He was to have the floor of the house the next morning on a very important bill and spent several hours before going to bed in preparation for his coming effort. He had endeavored to excuse himself for his seeming coldness to Miss Buell by telling her that his mind was on his speech, and the next morning she resolved to go to the capitol to hear it.

is soaking the clothes. In these 30 minutes you are saved at least a half-day's drudgery. The naptha and other cleansers dissolve the grease and loosen the dirt. Your part is easy—a light rub or two, rinsing, bluing, hanging out. No drudgery about that kind of a wash-day. Use Fels-Naptha for all soap-and-water work.

Adapt Chinese Tree.

Adaptability of the Chinese wood-oil tree for cultivation in northern Florida seems to have been proved by recent experiments. A tree at Tallahassee, Fla., bore two bushels of fruit last season. In addition to being an economically important tree, it is a decidedly ornamental one. It bears clusters of white flowers with reddish-yellow centers, and in full bloom resembles a catalpa.

The Gaucho.

The gaucho, or cowboy of the plains of the basin of Rio de la Plata, has been celebrated in song and story quite as much as has his prototype in North America, to which he closely corresponds. The gaucho is not always, however, a cowboy; he is occasionally a rover and his intimate knowledge of frontier life has been of great value in the gradual development of Argentina's vast Patagonian wilderness.

AUSTRIAN AGENTS INVOLVED IN MENTIONS CONSPIRACY.

(Left to right: John Hass Pelenyi and Dr. Ernest Ludwig.) Department of justice officials are now investigating the activities of Dr. Ernest Ludwig, Austrian consul stationed in Cleveland, O., and John Hass Pelenyi, vice consul, both of whom are said to have played a prominent part, particularly in the neighborhood of Detroit, in organizing a conspiracy against American munition plants, which brought about the recall of Dr. Dumba, ambassador. It is regarded as extremely likely that both men will be expelled from the country.

Fires in Holland.
Fires of any size are so scarce in Holland that the city of Rotterdam, with a population of over 400,000, has practically no fire department, while the prevalence of canals offers an ever ready water supply to fight any fires which might occur.

Tale of the Cranium Desert.
"Popper, tell me a real hair raising story," said the small boy.
The fond parent looked up hopelessly.
"I can't, my son; I've tried everything," answered the baldheaded father.—Exchange.

Photograph taken recently "somewhere in France," shows the manner in which the column of "liquid fire" as used by the Germans against the trenches of their enemies actually looks from the front. This is the first picture of this kind to arrive in this country.

3—Crumble-proof

ALL chewing-gum is at sword's points with the thermometer. Up north the cool, crisp days, and down south the extreme heat try in different ways to urge gum into a crumbly condition.

But no matter when or where you buy Sterling Gum you will find it crumble-proof. You will find that each stick quickly becomes a velvet-bodied confection.

So you will always find real enjoyment in Sterling Gum while hunting for that 7th point.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

New York, Sept. 15.—A strong tone was shown in the early trading when prices of the active issues generally ranged above yesterday's final figures. The chief feature of the market, however, was the scant offerings to stock except at advance prices but outside buying was not increased, and there was still a disposition to regard both the diplomatic situation and the outlook for the foreign loan as uncertain. Interest was attached to the trading in Bethlehem Steel, which opened one point up at 350. Crucible Steel, which moved up 1 1/2 to 96 1/2, and Industrial Alcohol, which rose a point to 81, and a new high record. Allis Chalmers and American Can both made good gains. Rock Island was in demand in the first few minutes, advancing 1/2 to 22 1/2, but quickly receding to 21 1/2. The Erie issues were again active, the common moving up 1/2 to 30 1/2 and the preferred 1 point to 31 1/2. U. S. Steel opened at 75 1/2, and quickly advanced to 75 3/4, followed by a reaction to 75 1/4. Anaconda rose 1/2 to 71 1/4. A gain of 5/8 was made in Third Avenue, which sold at 59 3/4.

If This Is Your Birthday
SEPTEMBER 15

The person of this birthdate belongs to the domain of earth and is warm and affectionate in its love nature.

With a Venus rising we find the love nature dominating and with the planet Mercury in ascension we find the love of acquisition strong.

There is a desire for money for what it will buy. In the home of the Virgo born you will find a sense of comfort and a generous spirit pervading.

The sign Virgo governs this birthdate and it imparts great physical endurance and health. This person is a natural leader, but should try to develop more tact and a consideration for the rights of other people.

The Freeman Want Ads will give good positions to domestics and nurse maids for the coming week.

FATHERLAND ASKS MORGAN'S ARREST

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, Sept. 15.—The next number of The Fatherland will contain an article suggesting the arrest of J. Pierpont Morgan on the ground that he has violated a federal statute in accepting a commission from the British government.

Under the heading "Will Morgan be arrested?" the Fatherland, after citing the cases of Dr. Dumba and Dr. Dernburg, says in part:

"But Sir Cecil Spring-Rice is persona gramma at the White House and the state department, although he has been openly shown to have violated American law by recruiting men for the armies of the allies, and was found under mysterious circumstances in the house of the English ammunition agent for the United States, John Pierpont Morgan, when the latter was shot in his own house."

These are strong contradictions of policy. The common mind cannot conceive why Sir Cecil Spring-Rice should not be given his walking papers. But the distinction is no more ingenious than that under which it is proposed to prosecute James F. Archibald, the American war correspondent, for carrying a letter of Dr. Dumba to his government while permitting J. P. Morgan to escape the clutches of the law under which it is intended to send Archibald to jail.

Under section 5,281 of the federal statutes it is a serious offense to "accept a foreign commission." Now Mr. Archibald accepted a foreign commission, it seems, in undertaking to deliver a letter from Dr. Dumba to the foreign office in Vienna.

According to a London cable he was ignorant of the contents of the letter, but that is not taken into consideration. He is already condemned. Now what is the law under which he is condemned? Attend!

"Every citizen of the United States who, within the territory or jurisdiction thereof, accepts and exercises a commission to serve a foreign prince, state, colony or people, in war by land or by sea, against any prince, state, colony, district or people with whom the United States are at peace, shall be deemed guilty of a high misdemeanor and shall be fined not more than $2,000 and imprisoned not more than three years."

This law completely fits the case of J. P. Morgan. If Archibald is guilty of having accepted a foreign commission for the performance of an act against a prince, state, etc., with whom the United States are at peace, Mr. Morgan is even more guilty. He has accepted and is exercising a commission as ammunition agent for the British government. His appointment was publicly announced in parliament.

The same number will contain, under the heading "Danger & boy!" an article by the editor, George Sylvester Viereck, calling attention to the fact that "the brutal demand for the recall of Ambassador Dumba and the renewal of the vicious campaign to undermine our friendly relations with Germany should be so timed as to be synchronous with the arrival of the British cabinet commission for looting the pockets of the American people."

Viereck concludes his article as follows:

"The Money Trust wants war because in that case it could lead the money of the American people to the people itself with utter impunity. The American people do not want war. Germany does not want war. The president does not want war; yet that is the goal toward which his blundering pilots are steering."

MENKE'S DAILY SPORTING LETTER

(By Frank G. Menke.)

New York, Sept. 15.—Pat Moran deserves ranking among the greatest baseball managers the game has ever known. It is the wonderful leadership of the red-faced, gray haired Irishman that has put the misfit Phillies where they are today.

When Moran took charge of the Phillies this spring he found himself the possessor of one wonderful pitcher, two hitters, a half dozen castoffs from other clubs and a bunch of unseasoned, unlikely looking youngsters.

The outlook wasn't exactly promising," Moran told us recently, "but I soon found that the boys had spirit—that they were workers and that they'd give me the best they had at all times. And they certainly have. Never in all my baseball career have I seen a gamer crowd of boys or a more hustling lot. They never quit. They're out there all the time fighting until the last man is out, and that is why we are leading some of the teams that seem to have the 'edge' on us in class.

That's Moran's story of the great fight the Phillies have made all year—but the story the players tell gives the major portion of the credit to Moran.

Players Give Moran Credit.

"He's the greatest manager in the world," say the players. "He's the life and the soul of our team. A dozen times we've been afflicted with 'glooms.' Things didn't break right and we started to become discouraged. But Pat always rushed to the fore, stepped up our waning backbones, jolled us, kidded us, restored our good nature, and our confidence in ourselves sent us into battle the next day clipper than ever before.

"Moran is a wonderful student of human nature. He knows just how to get the maximum result from each of us with the minimum effort on his part—a trick that so few men know. Pat never bullies us. He's kind, patient, he realizes that all players must make errors at times and he treats us like human beings. Is it any wonder that we're in the fight when we are fighting under the leadership of a man like that?"

Cast-Offs Who Are Phillies.

Eleven of the Phillies either was released or traded by other clubs. Those clubs didn't think they were good enough to keep around as substitutes, yet Moran injected them in to the regular lineup—and look where the Phillies are and where they have been all season.

First Baseman Luderus, who is fighting out for the batting leadership of the league, was considered too clumsy by the Cubs and turned over to the Phillies as the bargain part of a trade. "Home Run" Cravath was tried out by the Red Sox, Senators and White Sox and then sent back to the minors from where he was later rescued by the Phillies.

Outfielder Whitford was given to the Phillies by the Braves in part payment for Sherwood Magee. Outfielder Becker landed with the Phillies after being traded or released by the Braves, Reds and Giants. Bobby Byrne, third sacker, was traded by the Cardinals and Pirates and considered "all in" when he anchored in Philadelphia.

Infielder Stock was included as the "to boot" part of the Giant-Philadelphia trade. The same thing goes concerning Oscar Ducey, infielder, with the Braves in 1914. Demaree, who has been pitching better ball than any of the Giant pitchers was traded to the Phillies by the Giants. Pitcher Chalmers was released by the Phillies last fall, tried out by the Giants in the spring, released by them and rehired to the Phillies. Pitcher McQuillen was traded by the Reds to the Pirates and then sent back to the minors. The Pirates recalled him, and then released him to the Phillies.

Quite a collection of "stars," eh?

EXCITING FINISH IN AMERICAN LEAGUE

(By Frank G. Menke.)

New York, Sept. 15.—On the outcome of the series between the Tigers and Red Sox, beginning tomorrow at the Hub, will depend who will represent the American League in the world's series.

The Red Sox have an advantage today of three games. If the Tigers can stop them, then it will be a driving finish to the wire. If Jennings's men fail Philadelphia and Boston will see another world's series this fall.

According to the schedule the Red Sox have the better of it. They have 17 more games to play, while the Tigers only have 14.

If the Tigers pitchers held up as well as the Red Sox Detroit now would be out in front. It was weakness in the box that will probably cause Jennings the loss of the pennant. The team has been hitting and fielding better than the leaders, but the mediocre work of the boxmen could not be overcome. The addition of James and Loudermilk may aid the Tigers, but if they cannot take four straight from the Red Sox their chances are slim for the bunting to fly from Navin field.

The remaining games to be played by the two teams follow:

Red Sox's schedule:
At home—
With Chicago, Sept. 15.
With Detroit Sept. 16, 17, 18 and 20.
With Cleveland Sept. 21, 22, 23.
With St. Louis Sept. 24, 25 and 27.

Abroad—
At Washington Oct. 1 and 2.
At New York Oct. 3, 4, 5, 6 and 7.
Games at home 11; abroad 6; total 17.

Tiger's schedule:
Abroad—
At New York Sept. 15.
At Boston Sept. 16, 17, 18 and 20.
At Cincinnati Sept. 21, 22 and 23.
At Washington Sept. 24, 25, 27, 28.

At home—
With Cleveland Oct. 2 and 3.
Games at home 2; abroad 12.

WIND AND THE GIPSY MOTH.

Larvae of the Pest Blown Considerable Distances.

Washington, D. C. Sept. 15.—That the wind is chiefly responsible for the general spread of the gypsy moth in New England is the conclusion reached as the result of an investigation carried on by the department of agriculture in 1913 and 1914, the report of which has just been published as Bulletin No. 273. It has been found that in the last forty years the pest has gained an average of 5 miles a year toward the northeast in consequence of the southwest winds which prevail in New England during the season most favorable for the dissemination of the moth larvae. To the northward, the gain has been at the rate of 2½ miles per year, while in other directions the spread has been slower.

To prevent this spread continuing the badly infested areas near the border, says the report, must be brought under control. This can be accomplished either by natural enemies or by hand methods, or by both. In the infested territory, its natural enemies are now performing important services. The quarantine on lumber products, Christmas trees, nursery stock, and stone from the infested territory is also, it is believed, an efficient precaution against the spread of the pest into other sections of the United States. The necessity for hand work on the borders of the infested area is, however, emphasized by the evidence of the great part that the wind plays in disseminating the larvae. The maximum distance that it is known larvae have been carried by the wind is 13½ miles. It is probable, however, that there are unrecorded instances in which this record has been exceeded.

For Hardy Men

We have purposely made up a tobacco to appeal to the strong, vigorous man who wants full flavor and fragrance combined with natural sweetness in his smoke or chew. This tobacco is LIBERTY. It is designed especially to satisfy the tobacco hungry man. It fills the bill.

Firemen, policemen, out-of-doors men, two-fisted men in general, all say LIBERTY satisfies. Once they start using LIBERTY they cannot get the same satisfaction out of any other brand.

LIBERTY

Long Cut Tobacco

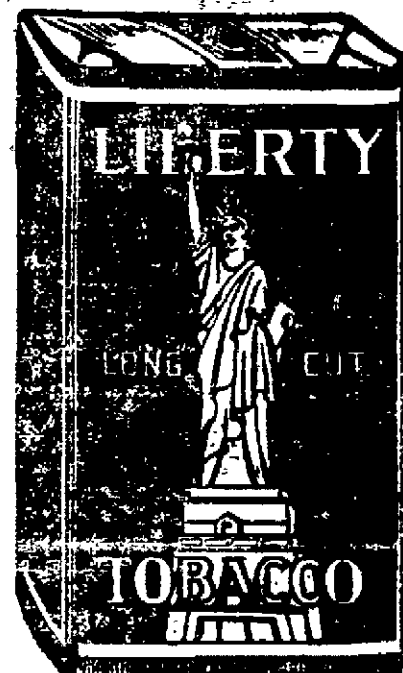

has character to it. That's why it appeals to and pleases these men of strong character.

LIBERTY is made from pure Kentucky leaf, aged for three to five years, so as to bring out slowly and naturally all the juicy mellowness and richness of the tobacco. That's why its quality never varies—and that's why hurried-up, hashed-up tobaccos can't compare with LIBERTY.

In the strenuous hours of work or in the pleasant hours of relaxation, be sure to have some of this wonderful tobacco with you.
